

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO

GIVING VOICE & CHOICE TO SURVIVORS IN TITLE IX REPORTING POLICIES

Please join us for a panel discussion of UNM and national efforts to improve support to targets of sexual harassment. UNM survivor advocates will be joined by leading researchers to discuss how and why changes to Title IX reporting policies are urgently needed, and what you can do about it.

Friday, September 25, 2020
12pm-1:30pm (MST)

FREE Registration at <https://bit.ly/2RoxrNJ>

More information at: Faculty SAFE UNM

Panel:

Dr. Kathryn Holland, Assistant Professor of Psychology and Women's & Gender Studies,
University of Nebraska-Lincoln

Melissa Barnes, Doctoral Candidate in Psychology, University of Oregon and Research Associate,
Center for Institutional Courage

Blake Boursaw, M.S., Instructor, College of Nursing, TREE Center, and Center for Participatory Research, UNM

Jessica Hidalgo Holland, Director, Women's Resource Center, UNM

Moderated by: Dr. Liz Hutchison, Associate VP for Equity and Inclusion, UNM

Sponsored by the Faculty for Sexual Assault Free Environment (SAFE) at UNM, the Office of Equal Opportunity and the Division for Equity and Inclusion

