

Wednesday, Feb. 1, 2012

Go Guide Black History Month

Living

ajc

"Home," choreographed by Rennie Harris, is among the pieces the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater will perform Feb. 16-19 during its five programs at the Fox Theatre.

Paul Solari

Alvin Ailey troupe

Robert Battle brings Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater to Atlanta for its first national tour since the choreographer took over as only the third artistic director of the revered New York troupe.

The five Fox Theatre programs, Feb. 16-19, mix some fresh moves along with the classic closer, the Ailey-choreographed "Revelations." Rennie Harris' recent world premiere, the hip-hop-fueled "Home," commemorates World AIDS Day and is in memory of Ailey, who died of the disease in 1989. Other highlights will include Battle's "Takademe" (1999) and Paul Taylor's "Arden Court" (1981).

$25-$65. 660

Peachtree St. N.E., Atlanta. 1-800-745-3000, www.ticketmaster.com.